

Mediumship Matters Podcast Transcripts

Season 4 Episode 14

Interview with Nicole Pope

Welcome to Mediumship Matters with me, Hannah Macintyre! Today, I'm super excited because I'm joined by my colleague and friend, Nicole Pope. Nicole is not only an incredible medium but also a passionate teacher at the Mediumship Matters School. Her classes are always a hit with students, filled with wisdom and authenticity. But today, we're diving deeper into Nicole's story, her journey, and what fuels her passion for mediumship.

Nicole's journey into mediumship is fascinating. Unlike many who recall spirit connections from childhood, Nicole didn't have those early experiences. However, she was captivated by mediumship shows from a young age, drawn to the idea that spirits could communicate with their loved ones. Fast forward years later, a life-changing reading with a medium opened her eyes to the undeniable reality of spirit communication. That one session sparked a profound transformation, leading her to embrace her own abilities, especially after realising her son could see spirits. It was this protective, "Mama Bear" instinct that propelled her into formal development, discovering her innate connection to the spirit world.

What sets Nicole apart is her integrity and professionalism. Coming from a corporate background, she blends business acumen with spiritual practice, ensuring her work is both heart-led and ethically grounded. She believes a good medium operates from the heart, maintaining high standards, respecting the spirit world, and providing sitters with meaningful, healing connections. Her approach isn't just about evidence but creating a space where people feel seen, heard, and supported.

Nicole thrives in platform mediumship, finding comfort in the dynamic energy of audiences. Her corporate experience, presenting to executives, naturally transitioned into her ease on stage. She loves the collective uplift that comes from shared spirit connections, where messages resonate not just with individuals but ripple through the audience, offering healing and validation to many at once.

When it comes to developing mediumship, Nicole emphasises the importance of self-belief, continuous practice, and having fun. She encourages students to embrace their unique energetic blueprint, understanding that spirit communication isn't one-size-fits-all. Her advice? Trust the process, don't overthink, and let spirit surprise you. And yes, even spirit loves a good laugh!

We also explored Nicole's passion for teaching animal communication. While it came later in her journey, she finds it just as profound as human spirit connections. Animals, both living and in spirit, have unique energies and messages, often providing comfort and closure to their humans. As we wrapped up, Nicole shared her future aspirations, including expanding her teaching offerings and continuing to demystify mediumship. Her goal is to make it accessible, relatable, and joyful for everyone.

Mediumship Matters Podcast Transcripts

Thank you, Nicole, for such an inspiring conversation. If you'd like to connect with Nicole, attend her virtual demonstrations, or join her classes, check the show notes for links. And as always, thank you for listening. Stay curious, stay open, and keep exploring the magic of mediumship!